ELECTION PROSPECTS.

With the Provincial press it has, of late, bren a fartile topic of speculation as to whether we are our two not, to have an Election previous to another Session of Parliament. Some who pride themselves on their engelity and foreight, predict that an Election will certainly take place this Fell; others pretending to equal wisdom, are equally certain that the prediction is not true. But Editors as well as Bectors will differ, as the public by this time quite well understand. So if the signs in the publical atmosphere have given rise to a variety of conficulty prognosticutions, there need be no great earprise.
